

Stephany Pinhorn

Certified CWB Welder

Stephany Pinhorn is a multifaceted professional with over eight years of experience as a high-pressure pipe welder, primarily at Nova Scotia Power. She has achieved several significant milestones, including being the first woman to perform x-ray level joints and completely weld a full valve package during a shutdown for NSPI.

Stephany is a certified CWB welder with specialized pipe tickets and holds diplomas from NSCC Marconi and New Dawn College.

Beyond her welding expertise, Stephany has built a successful international modeling career, having modeled in various countries and cities across the world, including Edinburgh, Culross, Stirling and Glasgow in Scotland, Dublin Ireland, Los Angeles California USA and on the Dressed to Kilt runway show in Toronto Canada.

She is also a passionate advocate for women in trades showing young women you can be both feminine and rugged at the same time. As a small business owner, she recently completed a Leadership in Business course to further enhance her communication and leadership skills.

Stephany's commitment to excellence, combined with her trailblazing spirit and diverse career experiences, makes her a dynamic and inspiring speaker on topics related to trades, business leadership, mentorship and personal branding.
